

Ami Dodge

YOUR CREATIVITY:
it's a lot like
NOTHING ELSE

"I'VE ALWAYS DRAWN SINCE I WAS LITTLE, but I started to really develop my skills freshman year. I love painting, too, but for right now I mainly draw because I have a lot of sketchbooks and not enough canvases. With drawing it's a bit easier to capture fine details, and it will take a lot of practice and probably more art classes before I can get to that level with painting. I am inspired by my favorite films, music, (Salvador) Dali and surrealism. I also love photo realism, which are paintings that look exactly like a photograph. A stipple (like the lip piece), which are millions of little dots, takes two to three days. A portrait can take from a few days to a week or two."

color pencil sketch in Art III
artists from top to bottom:

- CHLOE BETHENCOURT
- STEPHANIE PETERSEN
- MARIAH SCOTT
- MEGAN BREWER
- KRISTINA MELERSKI

EMILY STEINHER

"I went to a performing arts school in Natomas where I had to audition to get in. I had my first art class in sixth grade, and that's when I started to draw. At the performing arts school we would have art for half the school day. It wasn't a normal art class; it was really open-ended, which helped because we were taught a lot of different techniques at first and then went on our own. I loved using ink, black and white and lots of trees. I don't really see anything in nature besides patterns and different versions of existing things. I usually just don't think about it when I'm drawing. I'm not disciplined in my art. I do it for fun and it relaxes me; it's my therapy and helps me to focus. I think I'm best at making tribal circles or mandalas. Indian artwork inspires me. I hope I can accomplish making something on a canvas because I haven't yet. The best moment is when I finish drawing, because it takes a while with all the detail and seeing the finished product is always fun."

DREYANNA MELTON

it's what makes me a lot like
NO ONE ELSE

"I have a brown eye and a green eye."
TYLER STURDIVAN

"I have weird thumbs."
BETHANY BRUNDAGE

"I wear my watch upside-down and backwards, and I have a cool tattoo."
JASMINE CORREA

"I was born with a hole in my heart."
TORI FIEDOR

"My air of sophistication."
HAMEZ SAKKAB

"I wear the same pair of Softe shorts to every cheer practice."
JAZMYNE JONES

"I have stayed here at school until 3 a.m. making a robot."
CONNOR SHORT

"I will speak my mind, even when I probably shouldn't."
GRANT VIGOR

"I'm a risk taker, which led me to a broken leg."
DAVID RANGEL

"I feel like I'm the Number One corner kicker at WHS."
MARCUS TEJEDA

"I'm white and my boyfriend is brown."
HANNAH WALLACE

"I want to go to Stanford for college, even though I wear a Carolina hoodie."

Sanett
GAVIN TRIPLETT