WE LIKE IT HERE

WE LIKE taking an additional social science elective if it means getting to hear Mr. Jason Knowles' humor every other day. We like packing the gym at 6 a.m. to appear on "Good Morning Sacramento." We like winning the spirit competition, even if we lose our voices three nights before the Homecoming dance. We like having an extra 25 minutes at lunch, so we do what it takes to earn four planner stamps. We like who we are, and we know that what we do sets us apart from the rest.

Participating in a dance competition at lunch on Sept. 9, Elijah Moore does the Bernie while Jacquon Evans watches. "I dance every single day of the week whenever and wherever I am. I'm on a dance crew called The Wise Guys," Evans said.

Dancing to a mix of Justin Bieber songs, Dance IV students perform "Bieber Fever" on Dec. 1. Madison Page and Liz Allen choreographed the dance for the 4WRD show. "It took about a week to make up the dance. I liked it a lot and hopefully the crowd enjoyed it, too. We went with the Bieber theme since all high school girls are crazy for him," Page said.

BECAUSE IT'S OURS

BECAUSE we arrive early and stay late, even if the gates are locked. Because getting the full points on our annotation assignment in D-13 means something. Because only here would a student rip off his pants on live TV because the anchorwoman asked. Because running laps may look like punishment, but the captain convinced us it's worth it. Because 17 guys will do almost anything on stage to be crowned Mr. WHS. Because our collective energy makes every spot on campus the place someone calls home.
